

DUTCH WAGE WAR ON INDONESIANS

ALBANIA MAY BE BARRED AS
U. N. MEMBERRUSSIA AND U. S. A.
STILL FAR APART
ON ATOMIC PLAN

BY FRANCIS W. CARPENTER

Lake Success, July 21 (AP)—Four great powers, disagreeing sharply with Russia, expressed "grave" doubts today about admitting Soviet-sponsored Albania to the United Nations.

Principals laid down by delegates at a meeting of the membership committee of the United Nations Security Council indicated that the applications of Albania and eight other countries would have rough sledding, with no present assurance that any would be accepted.

Other U. N. developments:

1. In the economic and social council, Soviet Russia successfully defended Hungary against a Cuban attempt to put the present Communist-dominated government of Hungary into the "undemocratic" class in which the U. N. has put Franco Spain. The council by 10 to 1 vote, with the United States abstaining, approved Hungary's application for membership in the U. N. Education, Scientific and Cultural Organization.

2. Frederick H. Osborn, United States deputy on the atomic energy commission, said in the commission's political committee that an overall plan for quotas for source material, nuclear fuel and dangerous facilities should be written into an atomic control treaty. He thus agreed partly with Soviet Russia on a quota system but the U. S. and Russia still do not see eye-to-eye on international or national ownership of atomic facilities and materials.

Lineup Shifts

Hayden Raynor, United States, drafted two questions for Albania. He asked whether Albania intended to comply with the April recommendation by the security council that Britain and Albania take their Corfu mine dispute to the international court of justice and, if so, when.

A major shift in the council lineup from last year came when Pierre Ordre, of France, reversed his country's approval of Albania and said the council should ask Albania about her intentions. He said France's opinion of Albania had been seriously damaged by her attitude in the Corfu case and the attitude of the Albanian delegation before the security council.

Brazil, which voted with Russia, Poland, Mexico and France for Albania last August, endorsed the U. S. questions, as did Belgium, Britain, China and Australia. He said "doubts" about Albania's "peace-loving character."

Alexei N. Krasnikov, Russia, defended Albania against what he called "slanders."

Flour Mill Burns
At Pendleton, Ore.
With $500,000 Loss

Pendleton, Ore., July 21 (AP)—A $500,000 fire which roared through a flour mill today and threatened to engulf the nearby business district was brought under control less than two hours after the first explosion.

The blaze broke in the Big Western Milling company flour plant at noon, destroyed the $125,000 plant and set fire to several nearby buildings, including the courthouse.

Firemen estimated the damage at about $500,000. They said the fire apparently was caused by a dust explosion on the second floor of the mill.

REICH REVIVAL
PLANS DROPPEDHigh Production Level
In Ruhr Draws French
Objections

BY WES GALLAGHER

Berlin, July 21 (AP)—Authoritative quarters said today the long-awaited British-American agreement on a new and higher bizonal level for German industry appeared to be headed for the rubbish heap.

The agreement was signed, sealed and ready for announcement by the British and American military governments. But the announcement never came, and these sources said there is a prospect it never will.

The French objected to the industry level set at between 10,000,000 and 12,000,000 tons of German steel yearly because they saw in it a threat to their security if German industry in the Ruhr is revived. At the same time the French and others pointed out that the new level of industry might or might not fit into the Marshall plan for the recovery of Europe.

Authoritative sources said the agreement was never released because sudden orders were received from Washington and London, although 300 copies had been mimeographed.

The Paris conference on the Marshall plan is not due to report until September. Congress is not expected to act until next year. The chances, therefore, are that western Germany will be without an economic blueprint for another year.

Fire In Minot, S. D.
Is Fatal To Three;
9 Firms Destroyed

Minot, N. D., July 21 (AP)—Three persons were fatally burned, four others seriously burned, and at least nine business establishments destroyed in a spectacular fire here today.

Firemen battling the blaze since a gasoline bulk station explosion touched it off shortly before noon said tonight they could keep it confined to the area it has gutted unless a south wind springs up.

Dead are:
Chester Westrom, 32, Minot.
William Foster, Minot.
Adam Runyan, Minot.
The injured:
Hobart Myers, Minot; Mrs. Clyde Bradley, Minot; Orton Nelson, Minot, and Edwin Brown, Williston.

Two oil stations with their tanks, three creameries, a grocery store, a cafe, a grain elevator, and an equipment company were destroyed.

Volcano Eruption
Paralyzes City Of
Leon In Nicaragua

Mexico City, July 21 (AP)—Press dispatches from Managua today reported that a severe eruption of Cerro Negro Volcano had virtually paralyzed the Nicaraguan city of Leon and that officials were talking of evacuating a part of the population of 50,000.

The dispatches said that ashes and sand swirled up from four separate craters had covered the streets of Leon to a depth of several inches, and that it had been necessary to halt all industrial machinery to avoid damaging bearings.

Houghton Farm Girl
Murdered, Semi-Nude
Body Found In Creek

Houghton, Mich., July 21 (AP)—Authorities who knew 14-year-old Aurelia Virtanen as a restless, pleasure-seeking farm girl, today questioned her country boy friends in their search for a clue to her slaying.

The slayer strangled the girl and dumped her semi-nude body into nearby Pilgrim Creek, where it was found Sunday.

A deputy sheriff last saw the girl hitch-hiking along US-41 late Saturday, leading officials to theorize that a passing motorist may have raped and slain her.

Sheriff Emil J. Schumaker, awaiting an inquest into the schoolgirl's death, said her numerous boy and girl friends were being questioned. He said the girl was seen near a suburban dance hall Saturday night but apparently did not enter.

Her vital organs were sent to the university hospital at Ann Arbor, Mich., after medical examiners were unable to state positively that Aurelia had been raped.

Coroner Norman Treize said a post mortem examination indicated rape but that the girl had had sexual relations with men more than once prior to her death.

"We warned her and her parents that something like this might happen, but she refused to listen," the sheriff asserted. He said the girl chafed at farm life and had run away from home several times.

She was one of seven children, and Sheriff Schumaker said her parents described her as a girl who disliked school but who liked boys.

She was strangled with a rag that was knotted tightly around her neck. Her body was clad in a blouse, sweater and shoes. Her overalls and underclothing floated not far from the body.

Coroner Treize, who said the girl was slain before her body was thrown into the river, found no bruises on her body, he asserted.

ANTI-POLL TAX

BILL IS PASSED

Filibuster Put Down
As House Approves
Measure, 290-112

BY WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

Washington, July 21 (AP)—Smashing down an incipient filibuster, the House passed and sent to the Senate today an anti-poll tax bill.

The 290 to 112 vote that approved the legislation in a surprise maneuver engineered by the Republican leadership was 22 votes more than the two-thirds required for passage.

(A two-thirds vote was required because the measure was called up for consideration out of the regular order of business.)

The legislation, if approved by the Senate, would make it unlawful for any state or municipality to require payment of a poll tax as a prerequisite to voting in a primary or general election for presidential and vice-presidential electors and members of Congress.

Seven states—Virginia, Texas, Mississippi, Tennessee, South Carolina, Alabama, and Arkansas—now have poll tax laws.

There are no plans, though, for consideration of the bill in the Senate this session, for it is certain to run into a filibuster there as it has on several past occasions.

The bill's backers said privately they want to get it out of the House this year so the Senate can take it up early in 1948, when a filibuster would have to run all year to be effective.

Strike Is Averted

On Southern Pacific
By Night Agreement

San Francisco, July 21 (AP)—A strike by locomotive engineers against the Southern Pacific Railroad's Pacific lines began at 6 p. m., PST (9 PCD) tonight, but an hour and a quarter later, a spokesman for the union stepped out of a day-long negotiation meeting to predict a settlement tonight.

In the day's first optimistic statement from a union official, F. O. Peterson, west coast chairman of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, told newsmen:

"We reached a tentative agreement on 20 out of the 20 rules (for which the Brotherhood was striking)."

"We are hanging on language. I think there will be a settlement tonight."

As Peterson spoke, reports already had been received from more than a dozen cities that the strike had taken effect. Trains not already under way remained in terminals, pickets appeared before company properties in several cities.

Her quiet welcome by officials was in contrast to the huge cheering throngs and lavish demonstrations which signaled her arrival in Spain, Italy and Portugal.

Meanwhile, including the Communist party and labor unions, demanded that the French government abstain from holding an official reception for Senora Peron, "who has just received the honors of" the Spanish government of Francisco Franco.

(In London, a British foreign office spokesman said Senora Peron had cancelled definitely her plans for visiting England, adding that the Argentine foreign affairs ministry had not explained her change of plans.)

BURMA GOES FREE

London, July 21 (AP)—Prime Minister Attlee told the House of Commons today that planning for early independence for Burma would continue despite the mass assassination of more than half the Burmese cabinet. He said the cause of the bloody outbreak was "not yet clear."

TRUMAN SAYS PROSPERITY IS
DUE FOR SLIPSALARY AND PRICE
REVISIONS SEEN
AS NEED NOW

BY WILLIAM R. SPEAR

Washington, July 21 (AP)—President Truman told the nation today that its "unprecedented prosperity" now is based largely on "temporary props."

"As they weaken," he declared, "we shall need to make many basic readjustments"—wage and salary increases "in some cases," lower prices "in the numerous instances where profit margins permit or where future profits would be better protected by assuring larger volume through lower prices," new social legislation, and restoration of some wartime government controls.

The president cautioned that the adjustments "must" be made before the lack of them produces serious unemployment and business decline. He added that "adjustment through recession or depression is tragic, costly, and wasteful."

The chief executive's statement was sent to Congress in the form of a midyear economic report under the 1946 employment act but it was addressed to the general public too. It was drafted with the help of the council of economic advisors, members of the cabinet and heads of government agencies.

Mr. Truman reported civilian production at a record rate of $225,000,000,000 a year and civilian employment at an all-time peak of more than 60,000,000.

Supports Not Permanent

He said that structure could be put "on a firm foundation of enduring prosperity and peace."

But he listed three "temporary props" holding it up now:

1. "The reconversion demands of business and the backlog demands of consumers." He termed these "extraordinary demands."

2. "Extensive use of savings and credit." The report showed that consumers are now spending more than 93 percent of their income after taxes and saving less than seven percent, while during the war they spent only 75 percent.

3. "An extraordinary excess of exports over imports." This is due to the food, machinery and other relief and rehabilitation goods sent abroad.

The president noted that "new foreign aid programs" are in the making. And he said that the United States will have to provide "additional credits, governmental or private."

But he declared that "we did not and should not embark upon foreign aid programs as a device for supporting maximum production and employment at home."

"To be sure," he continued, "restoration of world trade, when achieved, will facilitate our own efforts in maintaining a prosperous domestic economy. The immediate and sole objective of our foreign aid programs should be to restore a vigorous, stable, and peaceful world economy. It is our goal to contribute to the restoration of conditions under which other countries will be able to pay their way by mutual exchange of goods and services, under such economic institutions as they freely determine and adapt to their peculiar circumstances."

In connection with foreign aid, the report said that when foreign agriculture is revived and the demand for American food lessens, the government's program for price support of American farm products may start into active operation again. But if it does, Mr. Truman wrote, that "should be considered a fortunate circumstance rather than a cause for resentment against farmers."

The measure takes into account but does not meet President Truman's request for $250,000,000 for Mississippi basin flood control work, Chairman Gurney (R-SD) said. The subcommittee recommended about $300,000,000 for all flood control and $43,304,200 for navigation construction during the fiscal year which began July 1.

The Senate group increased from $24,000,000 to $50,000,000 an appropriation for the Lower Mississippi Valley flood control program, of the total $12,000,000 for maintenance work.

UNDER FIRE — Declaring "it appears . . . that vote frauds, election irregularities and the purchase of votes were prevalent," the Senate Rules Committee unanimously authorized a complete investigation into the 1946 election of Sen. Harley M. Kilgore, above, Democrat, of West Virginia. Thomas Sweeney, GOP candidate is contesting the election.

Cohen, one of the top flight figures of both the Roosevelt and Truman administrations, steps out on July 31 under terms of his resignation, which President Truman has accepted.

Cohen said it was his wish, "after 14 years of almost continuous government service to take a rest free from all official responsibility."

One of the men upon whom former Secretary of State James F. Byrnes relied for counsel, both as state department head and in other executive posts, Cohen submitted his resignation when Byrnes resigned and Marshall became Secretary of State.

During the Roosevelt administration, Cohen was long one of the inner circle of presidential advisors.

Washington, July 21 (AP)—The Senate Republican policy committee decided today to delay until later in the week a showdown on a proposal by Senator Kem (R-Mo) for an investigation of Attorney General Clark's handling of Kansas City vote fraud charges.

With Democrats resisting efforts to bring up an inquiry resolution by Kem, Chairman Taft (Ohio) told reporters after a policy committee meeting:

"One way or another there will be an investigation this year of the Kansas City case."

Taft said he and Senators Ferguson (R-Mich) and Wherry (R-Nebr) had been designated as a subcommittee to attempt to work out some solution the parliamentary knot in which the Democrats have tied the Republicans by talking about other matters in the Senate.

Taft said the decision to delay a showdown until later in the week involved abandoning plans for all-night session of the Senate.

A proposal to take up the Kem matter, now pending before the Senate, will be laid aside to bring up a resolution disapproving President Truman's plan for reorganization of housing agencies under one head.

Indianapolis, July 21 (AP)—A criminal court jury of 11 women and one man was selected today to hear the trial of Mrs. Marian Esther Eldson, young mother, charged with the ax slaying of her husband.

Mrs. Eldson was indicted on a charge of first degree murder after her husband, James Eldson, 37, was killed with a hatchet March 1.

Police said the 20-year-old woman admitted attacking her husband to prevent him from raping her 15-year-old sister.

Mrs. Eldson is at liberty under $1,500 bond.

Last Of Brain
Trust Resigns
In Washington

Washington, July 21 (AP)—"Ben" Cohen, last of the original "brain trust" of early Roosevelt administration days, bowed out today when President Truman accepted his resignation as counselor of the state department.

To succeed him the president nominated Charles E. Bohlen, veteran foreign service officer and the state department's Russian expert.

The shift enables Secretary of State Marshall to keep indefinitely at his side his closest adviser on Soviet matters. Bohlen would have been due for a foreign assignment next January under a law limiting foreign service officers to tours of four years in the United States. The rule does not apply to posts requiring Senate confirmation, such as the position of counselor.

Also sent to the Senate along with the Bohlen nomination was that of John Carter Vincent, another career diplomat, to be minister to Switzerland.

Cohen, one of the top flight figures of both the Roosevelt and Truman administrations, steps out on July 31 under terms of his resignation, which President Truman has accepted.

Cohen said it was his wish, "after 14 years of almost continuous government service to take a rest free from all official responsibility."

Batavia, Java, Tuesday, July 22 (AP)—The Indonesian Republican radio reported today that Dutch forces had struck against East Java in a large-scale amphibious landing. The radio said Probolinggo, Setobondo and Banjowangi had been captured.

BY STANLEY S. SWINTON

Batavia, Java, Tuesday, July 22 (AP)—Dutch ground forces struck against the Indonesian army and guerilla forces at several undisclosed points on Java and Sumatra as the second day of Dutch "police" action opened under weather conditions ideal for aircraft and armored units.

Dutch military planes, singly and in pairs, began flying from Batavia toward the forward areas shortly after dawn.

Yesterday, Netherlands planes blasted Indonesian airfields on Java and Sumatra, but a tropical deluge of rain hampered ground and armored activities and, to an extent, air operations.

Booby Traps Take Toll

The Netherlands army command continued to withhold official information as to where contact between the opposing forces was established, but Indonesian republic reports indicated the Dutch were attacking in the Bandoeng, Buitenzorg, Semarang and Soerabaja areas of Java.

Skilled Workers Needed In U. P., Says Patterson

The industrial development of Escanaba and other cities of the Upper Peninsula depends as much on their potential supply of skilled labor as on the natural resources of the area, according to William F. Patterson, Washington, D. C., director of apprentice-training service of the U. S. Department of Labor.

Speaking to the Escanaba Rotary club yesterday noon in the Delta hotel, Patterson declared that the apprenticeship training program will mean much to the industrial future of the Upper Peninsula.

Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock in Escanaba city hall Patterson and Elmo Burns of Muskegon, labor department apprentice-training service representative in the Upper Peninsula, will meet with labor and industrial leaders of the U. P. The public is also invited to attend.

National Need
Escanaba has a good apprentice-training program established for carpenters, bricklayers and others in the construction industry, Patterson said. He added that the program should be extended to include other fields, such as foundry, steel workers, the machine tool industry and others. There is a place for the apprentice training in garages, bakeries, and for meat cutters, printers, and on the railroads, Patterson continued.

"Mr. Burns reports there is good cooperation here and in the Upper Peninsula," Patterson said. "Such a program needs the wholehearted cooperation of everyone in the community to make it successful. The only obstacle is apathy."

The war accentuated the national need for an adequate corps of skilled craftsmen, Patterson pointed out. The nation's industrial development depends as much on their potential supply of skilled labor as on the natural resources of the area, according to William F. Patterson, Washington, D. C., director of apprentice-training service of the U. S. Department of Labor.

Bandit Talked Out Of Crime By Girls

Marquette.—Robert H. Hodgdon, 23, of Franklin, N. H., who was "talked out of" a holdup and car theft by two young women after he had smashed a sporting goods store window to steal the pistol he used for the attempted stickup, was in the county jail today.

Hodgdon, state police said, is being held on a charge of attempted robbery armed while a search is being made for a companion with whom he came to Marquette, and inquiries are being made of eastern police. Both are wanted for car theft in New Hampshire.

The two young women who coolly dissuaded Hodgdon from his attempted robbery are Miss Rose May Grimes, 1535 Myrtle avenue, Detroit, and Mrs. Gertrude Sherbinow, 1440 Lynn street, Marquette. The attempt occurred in front of the Minnie club, night club off US-41 in Marquette township about 1 a. m.

Reverend Ward Gives Report On Kiwanis Parley

An interesting report on the Kiwanis International convention, held a couple weeks ago in Chicago, was given by Rev. James G. Ward at the meeting of the Escanaba Kiwanis club yesterday noon. The speaker was presented by Robert McKerrill, program chairman.

Reverend Ward reported that 213 new Kiwanis clubs had been organized during the past year in the United States and Canada, boosting the Kiwanis membership by 16,000 to 178,851.

Speakers at the international convention discussed the possibilities of atomic and disease warfare in the future and expressed their opinion that war is inevitable unless the nations decide to cooperate for peace. Reverend Ward said. He also discussed an address delivered by Louis F.

DISTRICT DEPUTY — Joseph N. Lequia, of Escanaba, has been appointed deputy of District 19, Knights of Columbus, which includes Escanaba Council 640, Menominee Council 646, Iron Mountain Council 1585 and Manistique, 2026. Escanabans Return From Visit To Sweden

Two local men, Andrew Peterson, 416 South 14th street, and Gust Leaf, 212 North 11th street, returned Thursday night from a three month visit to Sweden. Mr. Peterson's trip was a gift from the Bethany Lutheran church upon his retirement as janitor and Mr. Leaf accompanied him. Mr. Leaf is retired from the Northwestern Railroad.

They had a very enjoyable time although the weather during the return trip was rather stormy. Despite their advanced years, Mr. Peterson is 79 years old and Mr. Leaf is 75, neither of them suffered any ill health during their visit.

They left Escanaba April 16 and left the states on the 'M. S. Batore' on the 18th. Mr. Peterson left Sweden in 1897 and Mr. Leaf left in 1893. Both men were married after arriving here. They state that the difference of Sweden's appearance now compared to when they left it as young men is the difference between night and day.

Mr. Peterson declared that the best time of the year to make the trip is in the spring. He is just proud of having heard the 'goken' bird early one morning when he first arrived in Sweden. It signifies spring is just around the corner as does the American robin and is well known for its beautiful song.

Prices Are High
The men agreed that prices are high on all things. A boy's dress suit costs 200 krona with 3.50 krona to our dollar, making it about $60 in American money. Rent is also very high. A cousin of Rev. Gustav Lund, Carl Eliason, superintendent of a school in Varberg, Holland, pays 90 krona a month for two rooms. Everything is rationed but there is enough to go around. Coupons are needed to buy bread and butter in the restaurants.

Mr. Peterson traveled in Malmo, Varberg, Smoland, Göteborg, and Jonkoping and stayed in Svanavo and Kalvsjokm. Mr. Leaf visited Stockholm, Mombacker, Varmland, and Haksok and Uddevalla where he lived while there.

Mr. Leaf saw two whales and some large fish during the trip. Mr. Peterson said fishing was his one disappointment. The fish were not biting at all during his stay there. Mr. Leaf said his only disappointment was that he couldn't go through the Gota Canal as reservations had to be made far in advance.

The weather was very dry part of the time, making a poor crop of hay although the grain outlook was good. Mr. Peterson stated that they hadn't had any rain in one five week period.

Mr. Peterson's description of meals is: "Six o'clock, coffee; 8 o'clock, breakfast; 10 a. m., coffee; 12 o'clock, dinner; 2 o'clock, coffee; 5 p. m., supper, and then coffee before retiring." Coffee doesn't consist of just a cup of coffee, as may be supposed. There are several kinds of bread, coffee cakes, cakes, pickles, cheese and various other foods. At a meal, breakfast, dinner or supper, there are 13 or 14 different types of food. The people do their work more leisurely than Americans do but work very hard while working.

and is very elaborate while a wedding lasts one day and is simple in comparison.

Some of the special scenes they saw was a very beautiful cemetery carved out of the mountain with flower gardens and a stairway going all the way up the mountain. Mr. Leaf visited the home of Selma Laberlof, the great author and Nobel prize winner, who died a few years ago, in Mombacker. One of the big thrills was a visit to nine rooms of the 500-room palace in Stockholm. He also saw Crown Prince Gustaf Adolf as he was entering a car after leaving the palace.

Both men brought back many very nice souvenirs, among them the key to Göteborg and some beautiful silverware.

Although they enjoyed their stay in Sweden very much, they were very happy to be back in the familiar surroundings.

ESCANABA AIR STOP POSSIBLE

Nationwide Airlines Of Detroit Has Daily Service To U. P.

The Nationwide Airlines of Detroit, which last week instituted daily passenger and air freight service between Detroit and the Upper Peninsula of Michigan, is considering a daily stop at Escanaba, Irving Stahl, regional manager of the company, revealed in a telegram to the Daily Press yesterday.

Stops are now being made by the company at Detroit and Lansing in the Lower Peninsula and at Iron Mountain and Houghton in the Upper Peninsula. Menominee is also seeking to have extension of the route to include Menominee, but this would require a 40-mile deviation from its route because of the necessity of restricting flights to within the state of Michigan.

The DC-3 now in service on the route is flying north of Washington Island, which would put the plane within a few minutes of Escanaba and on a direct line to a scheduled stop at Iron Mountain.

Under the flight schedule now in effect, the company is providing four-hour service between Houghton and Detroit, with stops at Lansing and Iron Mountain. Two-hour service is provided between Iron Mountain and Lansing.

Committee Leaders Picked By Red Cross For Blood Program

For blood clinic being held in Escanaba by the Red Cross August 11-15, Mrs. C. L. Riegel, general chairman has announced the following as chairmen of the various committees:

Solicitation work will be directed by Joseph Lequia of the staff of St. Francis hospital. Public information will be disseminated through Mrs. P. C. Beauchamp, Jr., and Rose LaChapelle. Mrs. A. W. Erickson will chairmen the reception committee while Mrs. Lawrence Erickson will direct operation of the canteen. Mrs. Emerson Harvey, will be in charge registration and Mrs. Alma Christensen, R. N., will direct nurses aides.

Object of the program, on a nation-wide basis, is to provide blood reserves for hospital and emergency use. At present Delta county is behind in her quota, having used in the past year, more than was donated by the area during the last blood clinic held here.

IT TOOK 50 YEARS TO BRING YOU THIS NEW TASTE THRILL!

To everyone in Michigan looking for the very finest in Beer:

You have a new taste thrill in store for you and it took 50 years to create it! That's a long time to wait for anything, but when you taste the Extra Pale Fox De Luxe we're now brewing, you'll say it was worth waiting for.

Back of this new taste thrill is 50 years of dreaming, thinking and working. Fifty years ago, in 1897, I began working in a small Wisconsin brewery—literally, from the bottom up. This work was hard but it stimulated my desire to someday make the finest beer in the world.

In later years I visited leading breweries in Europe, studied their methods, tested their beers. But not until I reached the Bohemian hop fields and found the world's finest hops, did I discover the secret I was after.

The secret was twofold: first, select an exclusive strain of Bohemian hops; second, develop a unique process of blending these hops into the brew.

When I became President of Fox De Luxe Brewing Co., our technical staff began developing this blending process. During the war years imported hops were not available in commercial quantities. But we continued our research in the laboratory.

Now our blending process is perfected. On the occasion of my 50th anniversary I am happy and proud to present you with the realization of my dream: the finest beer in the world . . . Extra Pale Fox De Luxe!

Air Service To Detroit

TAKING a cue from Iron Mountain's successful efforts to get airline service to Detroit, Menominee's Chamber of Commerce is negotiating with Nationwide Airlines to make a stop at Menominee on its daily service between the Upper Peninsula and Lansing and Detroit.

In many ways, the air service between the Upper Peninsula and Detroit is more desirable than between the Upper Peninsula and Chicago because there already is rapid train connections from the peninsula to Chicago. Train transportation service to Detroit, however, is wholly inadequate, a factor that makes the airline service particularly attractive.

Nationwide Airlines originally opened air service directly between Houghton and Detroit but Iron Mountain officials did an excellent selling job to get the airline to include Iron Mountain on its route. Menominee is seeking to interest the airline company into extending its route to include the state line city.

One of the obstacles to including Menominee on the schedule is the necessity for a plane to go about 40 miles off its route in order to stay within the state of Michigan. Such an obstacle would not exist, however, if the plane included Escanaba on its route instead of Menominee. In order to reach Menominee and still stay within the state of Michigan, the plane must fly north of Washington Island and thence south to Menominee. The plane, of course, is only a few minutes from Escanaba when it passes north of Washington Island. An Escanaba stop also would not require any material deviation from a direct route to Iron Mountain.

Escanaba officials might point out these facts to Nationwide Airlines and suggest that they include this city on their Upper Peninsula-Detroit schedule.

Up To The President

DESPITE unanimous approval of both the house of representatives and the U. S. senate authorizing war veterans to cash their terminal leave bonds after Sept. 1, there is still a possibility, even though remote, that the measure might be killed by a presidential pocket veto.

The U. S. treasury, which undoubtedly reflects the administration viewpoint on this issue, has opposed the bill on the grounds that it is inflationary. Congress plans to adjourn at the end of this week. If the president chose to do so, he could hold the bill on his desk until after congress adjourns, letting it die a natural death without taking any action on it during the 10 day period established by constitution.

In view of the unanimous approval vote by both branches of congress, with united support from the Democratic side as well as the Republican majority, it hardly seems likely that the president would use the pocket veto procedure as a means of killing the bill, but the possibility cannot be completely dismissed.

If the president chooses to act upon the measure while congress is still in session, there can be no doubt that the bill will become law, whether the president signs it or not. In the event of a veto while congress is in session, there is ample assurance that the veto will be overridden.

Adoption of the terminal pay bill will not add to the national debt but will actually decrease it because the government can finance the debt at lower costs.

Encouraging Reforestation

APPEARING before the house ways and means committee recently, E. W. Tinker, representing the American Paper and Pulp association, urged that Congress write into the tax bill a provision making the cost of tree planting projects a deductible tax item.

Mr. Tinker, it will be recalled, was for several years regional forester of the Lake States region, with headquarters at Milwaukee. It was during his tenure that the three national forests were established in the Upper Peninsula of Michigan.

Citing the fact that wood is a renewable natural resource, Tinker pointed out that Congress has recognized the importance of forestry to the national economy in the past by enacting legislation for fire protection, creation of federal forests, and forestry research projects.

But two-thirds of the forest areas in the United States are still in private hands, and Tinker emphasized the need for encouraging these private owners to practice conservation and sound forestry practices. Pulp and paper concerns, for instance, have acquired about fifteen million acres of land in recent years with a view of managing them for permanent wood production.

These private concerns and individual land owners would be encouraged to do more tree planting if they were permitted to deduct the expenditure from their federal tax bill. Reforestation is important from the standpoint of national security as the great demand for pulpwood and other timber products in the recent World War demonstrated. In Norway, the government compensates the private land owner for about half his tree planting cost, because it is realized that it is in the public interest to promote the restocking of forest areas. Anything that can be done to stimulate reforestation should win favor in the Upper Peninsula and Wisconsin, where the pulp and paper industry provides a large portion of the payrolls in no small number of communities.

WHY THREE CARNIVALS?

(Iron Mountain News)

It is not the thought of this item to toss wet blankets or go "blue-nose" about carnivals, or anything else, but the Iron Mountain-Kingsford area is now entertaining the third carnival within the brief period of a month. Why?

The News has no knowledge of whether the current attraction is any better or worse than the previous two. Both of the others, as nearly as could be observed, enjoyed lively patronage, and there was favorable and unfavorable comment, in both instances, as to the quality of entertainment, concessions and value received for the money spent.

Glancing back over the news, here and elsewhere, it is noted that carnivals, generally, have garnered some unfavorable publicity this season, through transgression of employees, in greater or lesser degree. Two carnival workers, one here and another at Escanaba—were brought into court here on a morals charge. Another paid a fine for selling a food product of below-standard quality. Others have been involved with the law, in one form or another.

There is, also, the relative question of how much money a carnival takes out of the community, compared with what it leaves. No figures are available, but it is not likely that the money which the carnivals leave with their local sponsors—veterans groups, etc.—is comparable with the "take" which goes out of town when the show moves on.

Some argue that carnivals are part of the summer scene. They say: "The kids like 'em, and so do we." But why not one, good carnival in a season—or, better yet, one, good, rousing, three-ring circus, complete with elephants, clowns, acrobats, etc.? Isn't that enough for the summer scene? Are three carnivals necessary, with a circus coming up?

Some communities place definite restrictions on the number and quality of carnivals they will entertain within a season.

Marquette gets around the problem rather neatly. It has no carnivals at all.

SAFER AIR TRAVEL

(Chicago Daily News)

An inexpensive instrument, installed in the cockpit, will do much to insure greater safety in flying. The device is plentiful, or soon will be, James M. Landis reports.

Mr. Landis is chairman of the special board appointed by the President to find means of reducing the number of airplane accidents due to misjudging altitude. These accidents often occur at night or under conditions of poor visibility. Landis flies on the aneroid altimeter as the chief culprit. He says it is unreliable because its accuracy is affected by various factors while a plane is in motion. Consequently, the pilot can't be sure how high he is above mountains or even buildings.

A secondary indicator, operating on electronic instead of barometric principles, would be installed as a check on the first. If they disagreed, the pilot would be warned. In addition, the report suggests that planes at all times fly at least 2,000 feet above mountains or buildings or other terrain.

Landis suggests both safeguards be put into effect without delay. Later, minimum altitudes for all specific routes should be adopted and enforced. Safeguarding air travel in imperative, and such simple measures as these can be taken without further waste of time.

If everybody cursed you, you'd be contrary, too—so don't blame the weather.

This thing of Prague being in the Paris meet one minute and out the next could lead to a new wave of bouncing Czech jokes.

WORDS TO WATCH

The word peninsula is often given the unauthorized pronunciation "puh-NIN-shuh-luh" or "puh-NIN-chuh-luh." The third syllable, in Standard American, is "shuh." Say: pen-IN-shuh-luh; or: puh-NIN-shuh-luh.

The word friasse is a French loan word. It means a dish of chicken or other meat cut up and cooked in gravy. Not "FRIG-uh-zee." The accent should fall on the third syllable, thus: frik-uh-SEE.

The word stabilize is from stable, "firm, established, steady." Occasionally we hear the obsolete pronunciation "STAB-i-lize," and it suggests something to do with stabilizing. The Standard American pronunciation, of course, has long been: STAY-b'l-ize. But, incredible as it may appear, the only pronunciation that is listed by Funk & Wagnall's and the New Century has a "stab" in the first syllable! One wonders if dictionary writers ever listen to people talk.

A number of readers have written to me

World Events Analyzed

Washington.—After the Civil War, five men who had served with the rank of general in that conflict became president of the United States. That seems to happen in the wake of every war and we are just now hearing a great deal about a military hero as a possible candidate in 1948.

Despite his emphatic denials, there are shrewd observers of the political scene who believe that General of the Army Dwight D. Eisenhower is eager to make himself eligible—if not for next year, then for 1952. They interpret his acceptance of the presidency of Columbia University as a move in that direction.

When Alf Landon, the Republican candidate in 1936, visited Washington recently, he spread the word that Eisenhower, a fellow Kansas by origin, was his choice for the GOP nomination in '48. This may have been merely another of the stop-Dewey maneuvers. But in any event, it served to start again the discussion of General Ike's candidacy.

—AN ABLE LEADER—

Eisenhower has demonstrated extraordinary capacity for leadership. His job as Allied commander in Europe was as much that of administrator and organizer as it was that of a soldier.

The current attitude, however, is not nearly so favorable to the military hero in civil life as it was 75 years ago. It should be noted, too, that of the five generals who became president after 1865, only Ulysses S. Grant was a graduate of West Point and a soldier by profession. The others were civilians who became generals.

Another general looms conspicuously on the '48 horizon. That is the historic figure of Gen. of the Army Douglas MacArthur.

Eisenhower is 56. Conceivably, if he does have presidential ambition, he could wait another four years. MacArthur is 67, and it is now or never.

Conflicting reports come back from Japan. Some of MacArthur's associates who have returned swear he wants nothing more than quiet retirement. Others who have observed him at first hand believe he has a deep ambition to be president. Among the latter men are those who have served with the general in various posts. With this background, they look into the crystal ball and foresee events shaping up in the following fashion.

The effort to write a Japanese peace treaty has now been launched. With increasing backing from policy-makers in Washington, a treaty will be pushed in spite of the objections that Russia is bound to raise. It may even be concluded with the Soviet Union on the outside looking in.

—MACARTHUR HAS CHANCE—

MacArthur has long been urging a settlement that would permit the drastic scaling-down of U. S. occupation forces. He recently announced in Tokyo that Japan could not make war for a hundred years, no matter what our occupation policy should be.

Conclusion of a treaty would further enhance MacArthur's prestige. With his assignment concluded to the sound of loud acclaim, the general would return to the United States.

Timed properly, this would be in March of next year. Landing at Los Angeles or San Francisco, he would receive a tremendous ovation. The triumphal progress would continue from city to city across the country.

Thus would the conquering hero become a formidable candidate as the time for the Republican convention drew near. Against this background he might even make a substantial showing in the key primary in Wisconsin next April.

MacArthur himself, the other day, gave what was taken to be a hint of his political intentions. He denied rumors that he intended to live in the Philippines after his retirement. The general said he would come back to his home in Milwaukee, where there are ties with his remote past.

Rarely, in either our political or our military history, has there been such a flamboyant personality as MacArthur. While they give him full credit for his achievement in Japan, Frank Kelley and Cornelius Ryan, in their recently published "Star-Spangled Mikado," take a more judicious view than the MacArthur idolaters.

There is one flaw in the MacArthur-for-President picture. In the GOP high command, the conviction is growing that victory is assured. Therefore, when convention time rolls around, the hard-boiled men in control of the party will see no reason why they should take a glamorous figure who has never been a worker in the party vineyard.

recently about the word philatelist, "a collector of postage stamps." They report that on Fred Allen's program Portland (Gee Whiz!) pronounced it "fi-LOT-uh-list." "Why the 'lot'?" they ask. The answer is, why indeed? No dictionary known to me shows the "a" broad in philatelist. It's flat as in "hat, mat," thus: fi-LAT-uh-list.

Miss Hoffa's (Mrs. Fred Allen) affection of the broad A usually betrays her, for she seems to have a genius for sounding a broad A in words in which it never occurs. She has said "plastics" for plastics, "stomp" for stamp, etc.

The idea that the broad A in the so-called "ask" words (ask, after, chance, dance, example, etc.) is the only correct pronunciation, or is more "cultured" than the flat A, is a dictation-school myth and nothing more. The broad A is heard natively in the speech of some (but by no means all) New Englanders. But even in New England the broad A is approaching obsolescence. Elsewhere in the nation it does not occur except as an affectation.

Good Morning!

APPROCIATION—One of the roadside developments which the tourist and traveler most appreciates is the state highway department's roadside tables and roadside side parks. Algot Gustafson, a foreman for the Delta county road commission, provided a registration place at one of the tables alongside a state trunkline in the county, with space for "remarks" after the name of the visitor.

The remarks ran the gamut of approval, including such expressions as excellent, swell, OK, very good, we like it, very nice, best we ever saw, nice spot, lovely place, beautiful, just fine, ideal for tourists, perfect, super duper, neat, peachy, gorgeous. There were some individualists who wrote down "Best hotel I ever found," "Ideal, make more," and one evening visitor reported succinctly, "Lots of mosquitoes!"

The motorists who used the roadside table registered from as far distant points as Illinois, Alberta, North Carolina, Ohio, Indiana, Ontario, Wisconsin, and from several Michigan cities. The registration covered a period of eight days, including the Fourth of July week end.

LOTS OF THEM—Tom McMeekan of Escanaba, district forester in the Upper Peninsula branch office of the state highway department, told us more about the roadside parks. Supervision of the roadside parks, tables, forests and other developments are part of Tom's work.

There are 580 roadside tables in the Upper Peninsula. They are located along the trunkline highways at sites adapted to such use—both the first consideration is to place them where they will not interfere with traffic safety. In some places turnouts are built at the tables. At others the motorist can pull off the pavement on the wide grassy shoulder you will find bordering Michigan's trunklines.

TWO ON AN ISLAND—The tables have become so popular and so widely and favorably known that, in response to a request, two of them were placed on Mackinac Island this summer. Although there are no automobiles on Mackinac Island, there is a state-maintained trunkline highway circling the island. Tourists who go there tour the island in carriages or on bicycles.

SOME HAVE STOVES—The installation of cooking stoves at some of the roadside table sites has increased, and will probably go higher in the future. This year 29 more roadside stoves were installed, bringing the total in the Upper Peninsula to 64.

Roadside tables have become an institution in Michigan. They are used as much or more by local folks than by the visitors from other states. Principally because they are located in pleasant picnic spots, most of them with a scenic view. Here the people from nearby communities stop to cook a dinner, spread it upon the smooth, varnished table, and enjoy a picnic in comfort.

ROADSIDE PARKS—For the benefit of the motorist the state highway department has six roadside parks located on trunklines in the Upper Peninsula. These are complete in their facilities, in-

INTO THE PAST

Ten Years Ago

Little Rock, Ark.—Party leaders squared off today for a finish fight over selection of a Democratic candidate to succeed the late Senator Joseph T. Robinson.

Madrid.—The greatest battle of the civil war raged through its fifth day today as the insurgents poured thousands of fresh troops against the government's newly won lines west of Madrid.

Francis Gustafson, who will attend Northwestern university this fall on a scholarship, was the principal speaker at the regular weekly meeting of the Lion's club last night.

As soon as such a move is financially possible, Escanaba should make a determined effort to construct a modern, well equipped bandshell on the beach facing Ludington park, Frank Karas, director of the municipal band, said yesterday.

Twenty Years Ago

Bucharest, Rumania.—Ferdinand and the Just, first king of greater Rumania, died at 2:15 o'clock this morning at Castles Palace, Sinalea. Little Prince Michael, not yet six years old, under the tutelage of a regency, is ruler of the largest Balkan nation.

Washington.—The breathing spell at Geneva created by recall to London of the two senior members of the British delegation apparently has served only to emphasize the doubts in Washington and diplomatic circle that difficulties blocking the way to a British-American-Japanese supplementary naval limitation treaty can be surmounted.

At least 500 former residents of Ford River will attend the reunion and picnic to be held on the site of the famous old village next Sunday, members of the committee estimated.

cluding toilets, safe water supply, tables, stoves. Each of these parks has 10 to 30 of the popular tables.

THEY LIKE THEM—People become so enamored of those picnic tables that sometimes they steal them. There is no need of doing this, for the highway department some years ago prepared plans and specifications so that you can build your own table just like it if you wish.

The tables are carefully maintained and they are finished with varnish. Tom McMeekan says that the tables are finished "to look like a fine piece of furniture" so vandals will not be so quick to deface them. It has worked to a considerable degree, yet some travelers are so thoughtless as to deface them with carvings.

"America is a beautiful country, no fooling," one girl from Saskatchewan, Canada, carved in big letters in the top of a roadside table in Iron county. Not content with this bit of exhibitionism, she then carved her name and address.

THEY STEAL THEM—Besides being defaced the tables are sometimes stolen, as we have mentioned before. How anyone can cart a large—and heavy—state highway picnic table away is your guess as well as ours. Tom thinks most of them are loaded onto trucks at night. Last year four were stolen. Sometimes they are located and identified as stolen property because each table is well-marked with the name of the department. When they are located the new "owner" of the table is quick to return it to avoid prosecution.

Occasionally the heavy steel stoves are also stolen. These also have the name of the state highway department cast into the metal.

What do you want to know? We will answer questions on any subject not involving extended research. Legal or medical advice cannot be given. Write your question clearly, sign your name and address, and (IMPORTANT) mail this coupon and a 3-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope to Daily Press Service Bureau, 1217 Thirteenth St., Washington 5, D. C., for a personal reply. Don't telephone; write as directed.

Q. Is it possible to remove tobacco stains from clothing?
A. Try sponging stained spots with cold water, and working warm glycerine into them. Allow to stand for a half hour, then wash with soap and water. If the stain still remains, sponge with hydrogen peroxide or sodium perborate solution (4 tablespoons to 1 pint of water) or moisten stain, and sprinkle it with powdered sodium perborate. Rinse thoroughly.

Q. My husband either lost or misplaced his National Service Life Insurance certificate. Where can he apply for a duplicate copy?
A. Report the missing certificate to the nearest VA branch office. Include in your report your husband's full name, present mailing address, Army Serial Number and his policy number.

Q. How many thoroughbreds have captured the mythical "Triple Crown" in the United States?
A. Seven. Sir Barton in 1919; War Admiral in 1927; Gallant Fox in 1930; Omaha, 1935; Whirlaway, 1941; Count Fleet, 1943; and Assault in 1946. The "Triple Crown" consists of the Kentucky Derby, Preakness and Belmont Stakes races.

Q. What were "rescripts"?
A. Replies of the Roman emperors to questions of law asked them by magistrates and colonial governors. These were written in purple ink; edicts of praetors were written in white ink; and the civilis jus (civil law) were written in red ink. In general, a rescript also was the answer of a king to an individual on some question officially submitted to him. If the response were to a council a community or to a corporation, it was called a "pragmatic sanction."

MOST WELL TREATED — In the majority, however, the traveling public is grateful for the roadside table, the roadside park and the roadside stove. They treat them with respect and, if they are from outstate, go home to write letters to their own highway department in an effort to have these facilities provided in their own states.

As the tourists who stopped at the table in Delta county commented—they're super duper, swell, peachy, gorgeous and just fine.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington.—One of the most unusual statements made on the senate floor in several weeks came from Ohio's statuesque Senator Bricker after President Truman denounced the real-estate lobby. Waving his arms, he told senate colleagues that Truman had indulged in the cheapest kind of demagoguery.

In contrast, Bricker's colleague from Ohio, Bob Taft, who knows what the real estate lobby did to the Taft-Elliender Housing Act, remarked that he wouldn't mind investigating the lobby himself. Furthermore, everyone who knows his way around any part of Washington realizes that the real-estate lobby is one of the most powerful operating in the Capital's cocktail lounges. But what a great many people do not realize is that Senator Bricker is hand-in-glove with the lobby—in fact, a part of it.

Bricker is a director of the Buckeye State Building and Loan Association of Columbus, affiliated with the powerful U. S. Savings and Loan League, which employs Morton Bodfish to carry on one of the most effective and astute real-estate and housing lobbies in Washington. It is estimated that this outfit spends around half a million dollars a year lobbying.

Furthermore, one of the recent confidential bulletins issued by the Morton Bodfish lobby gleefully boasted that Senator Bricker was one of their members and pointed to the fact that Bricker had obligingly introduced four bills to help out. This confidential bulletin, of course, was not supposed to fall into the hands of the press. But it makes highly interesting reading.

Equally interesting is another fact. Bricker was not elected a director of the Buckeye State Building and Loan Association until about the time he was elected a senator. Furthermore, he was made a director through the instrumentality of his old friend and political angel, John Galbreath, who is also a director of Buckeye State Building and Loan.

John Galbreath is a familiar figure in Ohio's real-estate financing business. In fact, he is a power. And he is also a power behind the political destinies of John Bricker. Not only has Galbreath backed Bricker every time he ran, but it is sometimes said in Ohio political circles that Bricker does not even shave in the morning without consulting John Galbreath.

All of which makes Bricker's speech denouncing Truman for criticizing the real-estate lobby doubly interesting.

—SEN. BALL'S ASSISTANT—

When congressmen's salaries were increased last year and they were also voted $10,000 to pay an experienced administrative assistant, it was expected that Neop-tism would taper off. However, it hasn't.

Minnesota's dour Joe Ball isn't the only senator who bolsters the family income by keeping his wife on the government payroll, but he seems to be one of the most sensitive about it.

When Elizabeth Ball was queried about her duties as administrative assistant in her husband's office, the Minnesota Republican grabbed the telephone away from her.

"What are you trying to do," he boomed, "smear me?"

"We were just a little curious how your wife happened to get the highest paying job in your office," was the reply.

"There's nothing wrong with that," snorted the senator. "She's the best person I could get for the job. I'm not trying to take advantage of the government. I could pay her $10,000 a year, you know. But I only give her $6,000."

"Is that all you consider she's worth, Senator?"

"I'll have you know my office is probably the most efficiently run office up here," Ball barked. "I don't pay her the full $10,000 in the interest of economy."

—TRUMAN AND INDIANS—

President Truman had to acknowledge that the beaded belt he received the other day from a delegation of Oklahoma Indians was not only an elegant piece of workmanship, but a perfect fit.

"It's size 33, Mr. President," explained Robert Goombi, a Kiowa tribesman, who made the presentation.

"Fine and dandy," responded Truman, whose waistline continues to reflect those brisk constitutional he takes each morning. "That's exactly my size."

The president was so intrigued with the richly ornamented gift that he made his visitors promise to send him a history of various Indian characters and symbols woven into it.

He also received a gift from Mrs. Truman—a brightly colored beaded necklace. This was accepted with some misgiving.

"I'm afraid my wife won't have this very long," he grinned. "My daughter, Margaret will take it away from her."

The jerkless subway train now operating in New York is widely acclaimed, but probably unconstitutional, as jerks have to travel the same as people.

"Worst traffic conditions I ever saw," says a British notable, after a day in Boston, his first stop on an American tour in which he will learn as he goes along.

Those would be our darker prophets who are racing for front-row rocking-chairs on the porch of the old Cliff House, above the Brink of War.

Where it is agreed between countries to send food and arms, as to besieged Greece, it's probably O. K. to bake the gun in the cake.

Masked bandits robbed a "used" car lot in an Illinois town. They knew where the real money is.

Junior C-C Charter Is Presented At Banquet

The value of Junior Chambers of Commerce in community development were described by speakers Saturday night at the Escanaba Junior Chamber of Commerce charter night banquet in the Sherman hotel.

Speakers were Dean Russell A. Stevenson of the school of business administration, University of Michigan, who talked on "The Community and Business Development," and George Fraser, Port Huron, state president of the JCC, who spoke briefly in presenting the charter to Dr. Roy B. Johnson, president of the Escanaba Junior Chamber.

Dwight Snyder of Kalamazoo, a national JCC director, made the president's pin presentation; and Maurice Mayer of Lansing, a national director, presented the membership scroll to Don Guindon, secretary of the local organization. Emie Skog of Marquette, representing the Marquette Junior Chamber of Commerce, the sponsoring organization, received the sponsor's plaque from Dr. Frank W. Henderson, state vice president.

The new organization and the visiting dignitaries were welcomed by Mayor Marvin Coon, and Whitney Dixon, a director of the local JCC and long interested in its success, was toastmaster. Entertainment included piano selections by William Clark.

Dean Stevenson discussed the role of small business in the prosperity of the community and described the financing problems facing such businesses. Every community, he said, should establish a "risk fund" from which loans might be made to aid small business ventures. The majority of small business loans are now made through local banking institutions and depend upon government backing.

Sometimes such funds are made available and sometimes they are lacking, Dean Stevenson said. With the cooperation of the community a fund can be established, such as that created as a part of the Albert Lea (Minnesota) community plan to create peacetime jobs for veterans. In this way the Albert Lea community was successful in caring for a 2,000 labor surplus.

President Fraser described what the Junior Chamber of Commerce can do for a community and its importance in bringing younger men into civic work for community betterment.

On Sunday the Junior Chamber of Commerce entertained the visitors with a boat trip to Fayette aboard the Al Wiles cabin cruiser.

Officers of the Junior Chamber of Commerce are: Dr. Roy B. Johnson, president; George F. Bourke, vice president; Donald Guindon, secretary-treasurer. Directors are the officers and Whitney R. Dixon, George Jerow, Tommy Quinn, Bud Pryal, Bernard J. Ammel, Tyrg Olsen, Lester Kenny, George Grenholm, James F. Frenn and Loren Jenkins.

Richard W. Sly, In Tokyo, Promoted To
Rating Of Sergeant

GHQ Special News Service, Tokyo — Richard W. Sly, 1002 Superior Avenue, Gladstone, has been promoted to the rank of Sergeant, it was recently announced by GHQ Special News Service of General MacArthur's Headquarters in Tokyo.

Assigned to the Headquarters and Service Group, he is a member of Company "L" Motor Battalion, which is a transportation outfit, transporting General Headquarters personnel as they transact the business of the day, and also carrying cargo in the form of supplies to the different installations of GHQ. It operates a fleet of 32-passenger Diesel engine buses for personnel and for cargo uses trailers, weapons carriers and etc.

Sergeant Sly is the Company Clerk of the battalion. He handles much of the administration of the company, checking incoming and outgoing correspondence. He types the morning reports, which gives an account of the men of the outfit. He takes care of the requisitions for materials necessary to the administration work. He files records and correspondence. In other words he is a right hand man to the Company commander and 1st Sergeant.

He graduated from Gladstone High School, May 1946.

His military career began in June of the same year, at Ft. Sheridan, Ill. Basic training in the Infantry followed at Ft. McClellan, Ala. On completion of training, he traveled to Camp Stoneman, Calif., where he was processed for overseas duty.

October 3 found the Sergeant lugging his heavy duffel bag up the gangplank of the ship which was to transport him to Japan. Sixteen days later the gangplank was lowered on Japanese soil and the Sergeant had arrived. Not long after his arrival, he took up work with GHQ. His present rating was given to him the end of June.

Sergeant Sly became initiated into the Tokyo scene like many of his contemporaries. He shopped on the Ginza (market place) where street booths elbow one another for miles in colorful conglomeration. He rode a rickshaw through the tangled streets of Tokyo where the old world blends so casually with the new. He watched the changing of the Guard on the Imperial Palace Plaza, where in the knots of spectators could be seen the cock-brim hats of the Australians, the tams of the New Zealanders and the turbans of the Punjabi.

Sergeant Sly is the son of Mrs. D. J. Sly, who resides at 1002 Superior Avenue, Gladstone.

Four Fires Crackle
In Escanaba Over
Weekend Period

Rubbish, grass, a kitchen and a car were involved in four fires over the past weekend. The fire department was called for all four, but none of them resulted in any great damage or injury.

Late Saturday night rubbish broke into fire in back of the establishment at 230 South 23rd street. At 9:15 Monday morning a Lincoln Zephyr owned by Robert Connelly caught fire in the 100 block of South 12th street. The fire was caused by defective ignition wiring. Damage to the automobile was slight.

Monday afternoon two fires were reported, almost simultaneously. The first was a grass fire on South Third street and was extinguished in a short time.

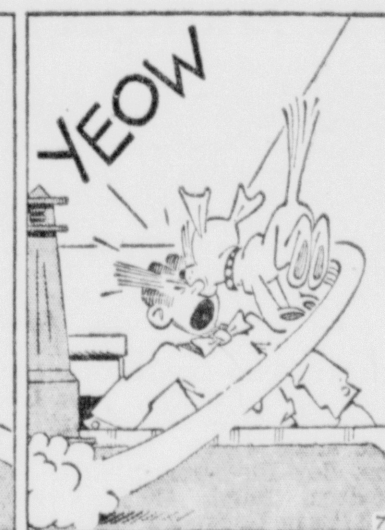

The last occurred at 4 p. m. when a kerosene stove exploded in the apartment of William Visnaw, 517 First avenue north. Mrs. Visnaw was cooking and had stepped outdoors for a few minutes. Upon her return she found the interior of the kitchen in flames. The fire was extinguished before it spread to other parts of the apartment house. The kitchen was badly burned and nearly all of the furniture destroyed.

The arrangements call for the same number of clerks and election judges as there were in the last general election and voting will be in the same precincts, namely at Lincoln school, first precinct; Linderth Implement company office, second precinct; City Hall, third precinct, and Lakeside school, fourth precinct. Out Of State Cars
Very Numerous In

Upper Michigan's popularity as a vacation land is generally well known, but the number of out of state people seemed to be particularly in evidence in Manistique's down-town district Monday morning.

She found there were more foreign cars parked along the curb in that one block than Michigan cars.

Patty Berg, Miss Wall Lose To Hogan, Feller

Patty Berg, of Minneapolis, former national women's champion, and Mary Ames Wall, of Menominee, present Michigan women's champion, delighted a gallery of more than 300 golfing fans yesterday in an exhibition match at the Escanaba golf club although they lost a best ball match to Harry Hogan, of Escanaba, former U. P. champion, and Don Feller, of Escanaba, present champion, 3 and 2.

Brilliant shooting by Don Feller gave the Escanaba men a two hole lead at the start of the match and they held the advantage all of the way. Miss Berg won the fifth hole for her team, but Feller was low on the sixth, Hogan on the seventh and Feller on the eighth, giving the men a four-up advantage on the outgoing nine.

Miss Berg scored a three on the first hole of the second round to cut the men's lead to three up but the teams halved the rest of the way.

Feller shot a 38 for low score on the outgoing round but Miss Berg countered with a brilliant 37 on the incoming nine, while her partner, Miss Wall, posted a 38.

Feller was low scorer for the 18 holes with 78 while Miss Berg posted 79, Miss Wall 80 and Hogan 81.

Past Baseball Greats Honored; Braves Beat Hotshot Yanks, 4 To 3

BY JACK HAND
Cooperstown, N. Y., July 21 (AP)—Abner Doubleday's old home town of his school boy days honored baseball's greats of yesterday by unveiling 15 new plaques in the Hall of Fame today and then turned out some 12,000 strong to watch the hot shots of 1947, the New York Yankees, drop a 4-3 decision to the Boston Braves in a 10-inning exhibition game.

ZULUS BOAST GREAT RECORD

Colored Stars Playing In Escanaba Thursday Night

The Zulu Cannibal Giants colored baseball team of Louisville, Kentucky, who will play the Escanaba Bears at City diamond here Thursday night, July 24, is a hustling Negro team with plenty of fire and comedy. A. M. Saperstein, well known sports promoter of Chicago has promised Escanaba fans.

Dressed in native African grass skirts, with sweat shirt tops bearing such African and Kanak names as Impo, Wahon and Kanoko, the Zulu Giants are a truly colorful squad, but their baseball record proves they know their stuff in the old American game, too. All of the players have had extensive experiences in college baseball or with well known traveling colored teams. Many of them have played in the famed Negro American league.

The Bears, who walloped Trenary, 21-1 Sunday, licked the Milwaukee Crescents colored ball team here July 4, but the Crescents are not in the same class with the Zulu Giants.

The game will get under way at 6:15 o'clock and it will be a full length nine inning affair. Fans are advised to come early to watch the colored boys show their pre-game pepper ball stuff.

The Texacos continued on their winning way by scoring three runs in the fourth, fifth and sixth innings.

M. Carlson was the winning pitcher and M. Johns was the loser.

Chicago Sloop Caru Mia Wins Race To Mackinac

Mackinac Island, Mich., July 21 (AP)—Veteran skipper Leland L. (Ole) Karas of Chicago today annexed his seventh Chicago-to-Mackinac yacht race championship by piloting his 53-foot sloop Caru Mia over the finish line in the corrected time of 39 hours, 5 minutes and 46 seconds.

Caru Mia reached the destination of its 330-mile journey at 12:41:46 p. m. (CDT) for the elapsed time of 46 hours, 41 minutes and 46 seconds to win the Mackinac cup and universal division class B time prizes in the 40th annual sailing of the Lake Michigan classic.

The sloop, a Q boat built in 1929 and displacing 23,600 pounds led the field in 1945 with Karas at the helm. The veteran skipper also won the 1927, 1928, 1930, 1931 and 1933 races and participated in four others aboard the Babuay in 1936 and 1937, the Manitou in 1938 and the Falcon in 1942.

First over the finish line at 9:06:51 (CDT) was the 72-foot Scratch yawl Rovono III, skippered by John B. Ford, Jr., of the Grosse Pointe (Detroit) Yacht club. Rovono, which was permitted no handicap in Class A of the cruising division, was clocked in the elapsed time of 43 hours, 21 minutes and 51 seconds, after catching favorable winds off the Wisconsin shoreline and tacking ahead of the pack.

Rovono's only honor, however, was first in the cruising division. Other boats were battling headwinds and only 13 arrived up to this evening.

The Valiant, skippered by W. R. Smith of Chicago, was dismasted by the wind and four other yachts were forced out of the race. Gramis, skippered by Kendall North of Chicago, and Woodward Smith's Fortune of Chicago gave up at Ludington and Persephone of Detroit and Susan Carol of South Haven, Mich., dropped out at Frankfort.

DODGERS SWEEP DOUBLE-HEADER

Brooklyn, July 21 (AP)—Coming from behind in each game, the Brooklyn Dodgers won both ends of a double header from the Cincinnati Reds today 7-4 and 4-3 to increase their National league lead over the runner-up New York Giants to four full games.

The season's largest crowd, 35,092, saw the Reds get off to an early 4-2 lead in the third inning of the first game, getting their last two runs on Babe Young's inside-the-park home run with Benny Zientara on base. Pete Reiser jarred his left shoulder trying for Young's deep smash to right center field, and is expected to be out for three days. He suffered no dislocation as at first feared.

The Dodgers knocked out Bucky Walters, Red starting pitcher in the sixth with a two-run spurt which tied the score and continued the assault against Harry Gumbert in the seventh, scoring three more times for the winning margin.

Bruce Edwards, who drive in four Brooklyn runs in the first game, won the second with a ninth inning single which scored Carl Furillo from second. Trailing 3-1, the Dodgers had pulled up into a tie on homers by Furillo and Dixie Walker.

Sally Sheds Leg Braces After Trip To Lourdes Shrine

Pittsburgh, July 21 (AP)—Sally Ann O'Leary's braces are tucked away in a desk drawer today. She said she didn't think she's need them any more.

The red-haired, freckled girl who returned this morning from an air journey to the Shrine of Our Lady of Lourdes, France, grimaced slightly as she closed the drawer on the steel and leather bands.

"I feel much better," she said. "I don't expect to wear those braces anymore."

To prove it, she walked about the room. Her steps were halting, to be sure, but still she walked without reaching for furniture or other aids.

Mrs. Ellen O'Leary, who accompanied her twelve-year-old daughter to the famous Shrine, declared the improvement was "wonderful" and added:

"Sally had at times taken one or two steps unaided, but nothing like this. She usually had to walk with the aid of furniture. I only hope this is permanent. Why, at Lourdes, she was able to walk a half-mile in a procession, unaided."

Sally Ann, one of nine children, has been crippled since birth. She underwent a spinal operation when she was five but has not been under the care of a physician since then, her mother said.

Describing the baths which have been credited with healing powers at the Shrine, Sally Ann declared:

"The water was cold and I was so scared. But, I said 'Please God, help me.' After a while, I wasn't scared."

HIDDEN BY CURVATURE
The earth's curvature is greater than most people think. A five-foot man standing on the shore of a lake cannot observe a five-foot man on the opposite shore only five miles away, because the earth's curve will interrupt his sight line.

Gibson, Manager Of Champs, Found Dead In His Room

New York, July 21 (AP)—They found old Billy Gibson, a fast man with a buck, dead in his hotel room today. He just fell asleep and never woke up.

Old Billy, you remember, managed Benny Leonard and Gene Tunney when he was flying high around here in a camel hair coat, in the twenties, always tossing money around to charity and to financially ailing bookies and always smiling. Probably no other fight manager ever had a record like that—two world champions who retired undefeated. Yet, old Billy was the first to admit, he didn't know a thing about fighting—was far more interested in his first love, horses.

Yet, he made a million dollars with Leonard and he made another bankroll with Tunney. And he was a high roller—a big action man—in his race-track book-making days before he managed fighters. He'd take any size bet.

Oddly enough, Leonard was his first fighter—and Benny himself, died only three months ago. They were like father and son—that close.

Billy got to manage Tunney shortly after Gene's return from the armed forces about 1920. Frank Bagley was Gene's manager then, but he and Gene weren't getting along too well, so Billy took over the contract and Bagley was paid off.

The son of a Bronx butcher, Billy was known all over New York. He ran the Criterion cafe, a famous eating and drinking and gathering place in the Bronx.

They'll be burying old Billy Wednesday. He hadn't been around much these last 15 years. He'd begun to run down after the death of his wife in 1926, and in 1928 the New York supreme court ruled that this loss had affected his mind. At that time, the record said that virtually all of his holdings had disappeared. That, mind you, was only a year after he'd received the usual 33 percent of Tunney's end of the second Dempsey fight—some $300,000. He was that fast with a buck.

King Carol Forced To Cancel Wedding; Asks Brazil's Help

Rio De Janeiro, July 21 (AP)—Former King Carol of Romania asked today for an exception to Brazil's rigid divorce law in order that he might marry Mme. Elena Lupescu.

Legal obstacles still barred granting their two-week-old petition for permission to marry and caused them to cancel the religious ceremony they had planned for yesterday in their suite at the Copacabana hotel.

Flasher Signal Planned By C&NW

Iron River, Mich.—The North Western railway yesterday inquired whether Iron River city commissioners would consider replacement of the flagman at the dangerous Fourth avenue crossing with a flasher light signal, if the railroad met the full cost of installation and maintenance.

After listening to a representative of the railway's signal department-headquarters in Chicago describe the bell-equipped pair of flasher light signals proposed for the crossing, the commissioners at a 5 p. m. meeting replied they will take the suggestion under advisement and decide at the next regular meeting August 7.

The city last year asked the Little Girl Killed Near Garden Turn, Runs Into A Car

Barbara Bird, seven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bird, Western Springs, Ill., was instantly killed at 5:15 p. m. Monday when she ran into the side of a passing automobile while crossing the road near the Garden corner on US-2.

The car which figured in the fatal accident was driven by Walter Maki, Route 4, Battle Creek. The Bird family had been staying at a cabin near the Garden turn on their vacation, and Barbara was returning from the bay beach across the highway from the cabins when she failed to notice the Maki auto approaching from the east and ran into the left front fender. Coroner Dr. O. S. Hult of Gladstone, called with state police officers, said that the little girl apparently died instantly of a broken neck.

Mine Blast Starts Night Of Terror In Holy Land War

Jerusalem, July 21. (AP)—A mine blast in Haifa that killed one person and wounded seven others touched off the third straight night of terror in the Holy Land tonight as the British placed 90,000 Jews in most parts of Jerusalem under dusk to dawn house arrest in an effort to curb extremist violence of the past 48 hours.

The Haifa explosion occurred shortly after it was announced officially that the 4,500 unauthorized Jewish immigrants who landed here last week had been deported to France, where they began their exodus to the Holy Land.

During the night the Jewish underground resistance group Irgun Zvai Leumi appealed to members of Palestine's two other extremist organizations, the Stern gang and Hagana, to join its offensive against British rule.

Palestine casualties in the last 48 hours rose to five dead and 29 wounded with the road mine detonation in Haifa which blew up an army jeep as soldiers were announcing curfew hours to Haifa's 50,000 Jews. A 10-year-old Jewish boy was killed by a splinter from the mine and three soldiers, a Jewish interpreter, a woman and two children were wounded.

the Batavia office of the Indonesian News Service Antara and ordered the agency to stop issuing news bulletins to correspondents.

Dutch officials said there would be no censorship of political news, and that republican newspapers here would be allowed to continue to publish.

Rain Slows Advance
Dutch military sources said torrential downpours slowed their armor and infantry, and the first communique told only of aerial activity, adding that operations were hindered by "very bad weather."

The communique stated that the planes which had gone into action against republican airdromes were American types. Squadrons of Mustang fighters (P-51s) made the initial attacks, the announcement said, and these were followed by Mitchell reconnaissance bombers (B-25s).

Soerakmo, in a radio appeal from the Indonesian capital of Jogjakarta, urged the nations of the world to bring the Indonesian question before the United Nations Security Council.

The Jogjakarta radio said Indonesian underground elements had arisen within Dutch-held Semarang, the most important city in central Java, and heavy fighting

Former Policeman In Chicago Named On Perjury Charge

Chicago, July 21 (AP)—Raymond Miller, 38, negro, former Chicago policeman, was indicted by a special federal grand jury today on charges of perjury and obstructing justice.

Miller was accused of influencing Willie Martin, 27, negro, to leave the city to avoid testifying before the grand jury investigating the attempted robbery of George Arrington, 53, of Grand Rapids, Mich. Martin later was arrested in New York City and testified before the federal grand jury here.

Police said the robbers who attempted to hold up Arrington were seeking $38,000 which they believed was concealed in the Arrington home by Arrington's son, Broadway.

The younger Arrington is under indictment here on charges of dealing in illegal sugar stamps.

was underway at Gunung Pati, 10 miles from that city.

Dutch artillery has gone into action south of Bandoeng, the Republican radio declared, and Dutch planes launched a rocket attack on Tasik Malay in western Java.

Other Dutch aircraft, besides blasting Indonesian fields, strafed a railway train on the Soerakarta-Sragen line, strafed the east Java coastal town of Banjoewangi, and bombed Madoen, the radio added.

An informant who had just returned to Batavia from Buitenzorg, 30 miles south of here, said the Dutch were encountering stiff opposition and had called in air support to strafe Indonesian positions.

The Dutch, who seized all Republican facilities in Batavia yesterday following a breakdown in negotiations for Indonesian independence, asserted the air attacks were necessary to immobilize Indonesian fighter planes.

Authoritative sources estimated the Indonesian airforce at about 40 old Japanese planes, many in poor repair. The size of the Dutch army, well equipped with United States surplus and lend lease military goods, has been estimated at from 100,000 to 120,000. The Indonesian forces number about 200,000 regulars.
